LIPTON MUST WAIT

Shamrock Cannot Race for the Cup Within Two Years.

OPENING OF THE MORRIS PARK RACES

Kentucky Futurity Won by Peter Stirling.

BALTUSROL GOLF TOURNEY

It is settled that the Shamrock II is to stay in American waters this winter and next summer she will probably be seen in races on Long Island sound and elsewhere. Sir Thomas Lipton says that the yacht will be laid up at Erie basin and not at New London, as originally intended. The tall steel mast will be taken out and all her other spars taken on shore and stored for the winter. By reason of the great height of the mast the yacht will either have to sail around Long Island in the spring to get into the sound or fit out at City Island, for the spar is far too long to go under the Brooklyn bridge at any stage of the tide.

It is claimed that unless he builds a new challenger Sir Thomas is out of it as far as having a try for the America's cup next year is concerned. The stumbling block is the rule which provides that no defeated challenger can again be entered as a cup contestant until two years have elapsed.

A member of the New York Yacht Club who is prominent in racing said last night:
"If the Shamrock should meet the Columbla and Constitution in that smooth wa-ter on the sound next summer I feel sure she would win a number of races, and that would give yachting in this country a big boom."

There is thought to be no doubt that the Larchmont, Seawannaka and other sound clubs would give prizes for the ninety-foot yachts and invite the Shamrock to compete for them. Sir Thomas and his friends be-lieve there is a great deal more speed in the Shamrock than has been shown, and they are willing to try her against any ninety-footer afloat. Sir Thomas suffered considerably with his leg yesterday and kept very quiet on board his steam yacht Erin. Thursday he will give a dinner to Captain Sycamore and will give a dinner to Captain Sycamore and the crew of the Shamrock and Saturday he will be entertained by the Lotus Club. Sunday night or early Monday morning he will leave for Chicago, there to be enter-tained by the Chicago Athletic Club for several days. He will sail for the other side soon after returning from Chicago. Captain Sycamore and the crew of the Shamrock are to return to their homes by one of the ocean liners next week after the Shamrock has been stripped.

Sir Thomas was the guest of the New York Club at a reception and dinner given at the club last night. About 200 members of the club were present. Commodore Lew-is Cass Ledyard acted as toastmaster and Sir Thomas occupied a seat next to the commodore. The banquet was served in the famous ship room of the club, which was fittingly decorated for the occasion.

The affair was entirely informal and none but members of the club and invited guests was present. There were no set speeches and nothing that was said was made pub-

In the first three rounds the men merely sparred and no effective blows were exchanged. In the fourth round Gardner struck Forbes in the mouth, drawing blood. In the fifth round Forbes landed a hard right in the ribs, knocking Gardner down. From that time the result of the contest was never in doubt, it being only a ques-tion of how long Gardner could endure the punishment. In the ninth round Forbes landed a score of times without a return, Tommy Royan, who acted as referee, stop-ped the fight to save Gardner from further

OPENING OF MORRIS PARK.

Mackay's Heno Won Matron Stakes From Whitney's Yankee. Clarence H. Mackay's Heno, second choice at 3 to 1, won the rich Matron stakes of $20,000 at Morris Park yesterlay. He made most of the running and won cleverly from William C. Whitney's Yankee, the Futurity winner. The race was the feature event of the opening day of the Westchester Racing Association's fall meeting and a big crowd was in attendance. The track was fast.

The Matron stakes was run as the third race, and sixteen high-class youngsters faced the starter. Goldseeker and Clonmell were stratched, but Luxcasta and Champagne were added. The Whitney pair, Yankee and King Hanover, were coupled favorites at 2 to 1, while Heno was a strong second choice. Barron was in demand at 8 to 1, while 10 to 1 or better could be had against the others. After a short delay they were sent off to a good start, and the Whitney pair, Heno and Whisky King, practically had the race between them all the way. They had the speed and fought desperately for the mastery, but through the last furlong Heno drew away, with Odom looking around, and won cleverly by two lengths. Turner rode Yankee out with whip and spur and took the place a half length before Whisky King. ace, and sixteen high-class youngsters

One rarely hears anything more hearty and spontaneous than the cheer which bursts from a thousand throats as the pope appears. "Viva il papa! Viva il papa!" Live the pope!) they cry, and the audience goes wild with enthusiasm, clapping hands, waving handkerchiefs and shouting. As the pope advances up the aisle he extends his hands on either side in benediction, but they are seized and held so firmly by eager devotees that his progress is impeded, and he is forced at last to hold them closely to his sides. On the altar the picture and relics of the blessed have been exposed. Before these the pope kneels and remains in veneration some twenty minutes. He then rises and sits on his throne, surrounded by his cardinals and other clergy, and receives the homage of his court, and after that a special offering from the postulator of the cause of the newly beatified—a richly ornamented reliquary containing his pic-ture, some relics and a richly bound copy of his life. All through the ceremony hymns and psaims of joy have been chanted by the choir to the accompaniment of the great organ. There is much speculation as to the probable outcome of the election of nationa officers. The race for national commander seems to have narrowed down to Minor of Indianapolis and Col. J. Edwin Brown of Washington. Each has his following of enthusiastic friends, who deem the selection of their man certain. The most prominent candidate named for senior vice command-er seems to be Past Col. Thomas J. Shannon of No. 111 of Washington, D. C., so that Washington has a double chance for the principal places among the national officers of the U. V. L.

At the meeting of the advisory board, U. V. L., last night, it was determined that each delegate should be required to present a credential card, to be obtained at national bridge of the state of the control of headquarters, on the proper show of eli-gibility. This is an innovation on old cus-toms, but seems to be well received as an added safeguard.

The National Ladies' Auxiliary held their first business meeting at 10 o'clock this morning in the court house at the call of Mrs. Ella E. West of Brooklyn, N. Y., the national president, and after transaction of routine business adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the preliminary work will be got out of the way and at 1:30 p.m. they will proceed to the election of their national officers. The chief candidates named for the office of president are Mrs. Laura Trintz Maguire of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Celynda Werner Ford of Washington, D. C. The business sessions of the U. V. L. encampment will not begin until tomorrow night.

A steady stream of vehicles, filled with visiting patriots, is hourly flowing out to the battlefield of Gettysburg. There, indeed, is presented a marvelous spectacle, where, over a space of twenty-eight miles, was fought, all things considered, perhaps the greatest battle of all past times, where deeds of heroism and valor were recorded that will forever serve as object lessons for each succeeding generation. Reading the tablet upon the face of the monument, dedicated by Abraham Lincoln to all future posterity, that marvelous utterance of the martyred President, that "the world will little heed, nor long remember what we say here," one cannot but feel how, in that instance, his faculty of prophesy was at fault; for that address, growing more memorable with the lapse of time, will be remembered by the whole

Upon landing in Philadelphia, Louis Philppe threw off his disguise and was known as "Mr. Orleans." We hear of him first as the guest of David H. Conyngham of the American, 94 Front street, where he staid for several days. Then he had rooms in the lower part of a house "next to a church in Walnut street, between 4th and 5th, owned by the Rev. Mr. Marshall." There he impatiently waited for his brothers, who arrived in the Swedish vessel Jupiter from Marseilles (with "eighty Americans redeemed from Algerian slavery"), after a voyage of ninety-three days, having embarked November 5, 1796. We are told that the reunion took place at the house of that the reunion took place at the house of Marcus Hook, on the Wilmington road.

DEPARTMENT OF THE COLORADO. Indian Troubles of the Year - Argu-

The annual report of Brigadier General H. C. Merriam, commanding the department of the Colorado, is devoted almost entirely to a recital of the small Indian troubles in that department during the past fiscal year. account, which was at the Uintah and Ouray agencies at White Rocks in December, 1900, growing out of the intrusions of white sheep herders upon the Indian lands. On another occasion the military authoritles were required to look into the complaints of the Arapahoe Indians near Fort Washakie, and as a result of this last in-vestigation General Merriam recommended that the Indians be allowed to continue their sun dance divested of barbarous features and that some changes be made in the issue of rations and the supply of seed grain. "The Indian," says General Merriam, "by sad experience, has been taught to look with suspicion upon any encroachment by white men upon the lands conceded to him by the government under our reservation system. This fact alone suggests the necessity for the fullest understanding on his part of the purposes and limitations under which white men are permitted to enter and act on such reservations.

"The complaint that the agent require

Indians to purchase by 'labor' wagons and implements furnished by the government for issue to these Indians, in compliance with treaty obligations, etc., as the consideration for transfer of lands, etc., does not seem as yet to have produced a degree of friction dangerous to peace, and need not be discussed at this time by the military authorities." Sharpe, assistant adjutant general and acting inspector general, makes the following argument in favor of the post canteen: "Observation, both in the tropics and during the year past at the various posts in this department, strongly confirms me in the opinion expressed in former reports that the legislation of last winter abolish-ing the post canteen was ill-advised. If there is no authorized and decently kept place of resort within a garrison, where the soldier can find recreation suited to his tastes and station in life, he will seek it outside, and the innumerable brothels and whisky dens which are springing up on the edge of the reservations will prove the most baleful and destructive enemy to contentment and good order which a garrion can be cursed with. Every change so as to include all the appliance including not only physical training, but billiard rooms, bowling alleys, reading rooms, library, lounging and smoking rooms, together with outdoor field sports, running and wheel tracks, ball grounds, etc., and the regulated sale of beer and other 'light' beverages, to the end that every possible inducement may be afforded the soldier to seek his recreation, amusement and relaxation in a temperate and respectable manner and in a clean and dccent place."

Senator Jones' Hard Fight. From the Savannah News."

Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas is ow serving his third term, and desires a fourth. But it appears that he is not to have it without making a strenuous fight for it, and there is some doubt that he will get it even then. A true old proverb has it that nothing succeeds like success, and Senator Jones has not made a reputation for political successes during the past few years. In a measure the fallure of the two Bryan campaigns which he managed as chairman of the democratic national committee weighs upon his political fortunes. Prior to the election in each campaign he made the most glowing predictions of democratic successes, thereby misleading his friends with respect to the strength of their party. And now many of them are somewhat inclined to qualify their faith in somewhat inclined to qualify their faith in his judgment and grasp of public affairs. A pretty strong opposition to the senator has grown up in Arkansas. It is led by ex-Gov. James P. Clark, who is a candidate to succeed Mr. Jones in the Senate. Mr. Clark is making a spirited attack upon the senator's record in the Senate and as the manager of Mr. Bryan's two cam-
